NAME:TERUKO NESBITT
FLORAL ART DESIGNER

Trained as an Ikebana instructor, I immersed myself in the classical Japanese art of floral design, studying techniques and aesthetic philosophies that have been preserved for more than five centuries. I later expanded my artistic foundation by studying Western floral design at the New York Art Institute. Drawing from the depth of Japanese tradition and the sophistication of modern design, I create floral works that embody both restraint and luxury. My arrangements merge the refined discipline of Ikebana with the expressive elegance of Western artistry, resulting in bespoke, site-specific installations that enhance and harmonize with their surroundings.
